

Friday 16th of November

8:00	Registration
9:00–9:15	Welcome talk
9:15–10:00	Keynote: Luka Kladarić, Sekura Collective Shipping quality software in hostile environments
10:05–10:35	Mikey Ariel, RedHat Docs or it didn't happen
Coffee Break
10:55–11:55	Laurent Picard, Google Drive your own IoT device in a snap with cloud services
Early Lunch
12:00–12:45	Chirag Shah, Barclays Understanding multithreading by deciphering the cpython interpreter source code
Late Lunch until 15:00
12:55–13:40	Israel Fermín, Careem / PyMENA Django in the real world
13:50–14:35	Maksim Sipos, Senad Ibraimoski, Kire Kolaroski, causaLens Ltd. Modelling dynamical systems in Python
Break
14:50–15:35	Ivaylo Donchev, HackSoft Django ORM and queries optimization
15:40–16:10	Anton Caceres, Tech-5.de The truth of mastering data
Break
16:30–17:00	Nikola Đipanov, Facebook Service Monitoring Manual, 2018 edition
17:10–17:40	Marco Chiappetta, Hipo (hipolabs.com) We need millions of images, and we need them yesterday
Lightning talks

Saturday 17th of November

8:00	Registration
9:00–9:45	Keynote: Russell Keith Magee, Survata Tomorrow's Python
9:50–10:35	Tomasz Woźniak, STXNext Behave parallel run on Docker
	Coffee Break
10:55–11:55	Lukáš Kubiš, Kiwi.com Everything you did NOT want to know about generators
	Early Lunch
12:00–12:45	Eugenio Valdano, University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA) Computational models to predict when diseases turn epidemic
	Late Lunch until 15:00
12:55–13:40	Duje Roje, Include d.o.o. Python for hardware
	Break
13:50–14:35	Jan Margeta, KardioMe Distributed computing and hyper-parameter tuning with Ray
14:40–14:45	Company Presentation / Tradecore
14:50–15:50	Ervin Varga, Expro I.T. Consulting Zen of Python in Action
16:00–16:30	Martin Czygan, Leipzig University Library Packaging Python applications
	Break
16:50–17:20	Nikolaos Michas, TTS Wireless Using Python to improve my Fantasy Basketball team
17:30–18:00	Mislav Cimperšak, Solvomon On the Edge of Leadership
18:05–18:50	Subby Angelov, Nemetschek Bulgaria Meeting kills people

Sunday 18th of November

8:00	Registration
9:00–9:45	Keynote: Ridhwana Khan, Software Consultant Expand your toolkit for self-development
9:50–10:35	Tin Marković, Kiwi.com Refactoring in Python: design patterns and approaches
	Coffee Break
10:55–11:55	Jelena Mitrović, University of Passau Natural Language Processing with Python
	Early Lunch
12:00–12:45	Andrii Soldatenko, Toptal Competitive programming using Python
	Late Lunch until 15:00
12:55–13:40	Keynote: David Cramer, Sentry To be announced
13:50–14:35	Radoslav Georgiev, HackSoft Running a coding academy in the Balkans
	Break
14:50–15:35	Vladimir Iurcovschi, Dimitris Koulouris, Warply Processing billions of events with Python in real time
15:40–16:00	Dan-Claudiu Dragoș, Facebook Migrating an older code base to Python 3: the expected - and the unexpected
	Break
16:15–17:00	Mladen Jovanovic, Bravo Systems Recommender Systems - Collaborative filtering and dimensionality reduction
17:05–17:50	Israel Fermín, Careem / PyMENA Querysets can do that?
17:55–18:25	Dmitry Dygalo, Kiwi.com Testable code: making the (testing) world better
18:25–18:35	Goodbye

